

Steam Games Analytics Dashboard

Final Presentation

Q1. Average Review Scores Over Time by Genre

Key Conclusion

Average review scores recovered over time, with Action and Adventure remaining consistently strong.

Q2. Price vs Review Scores

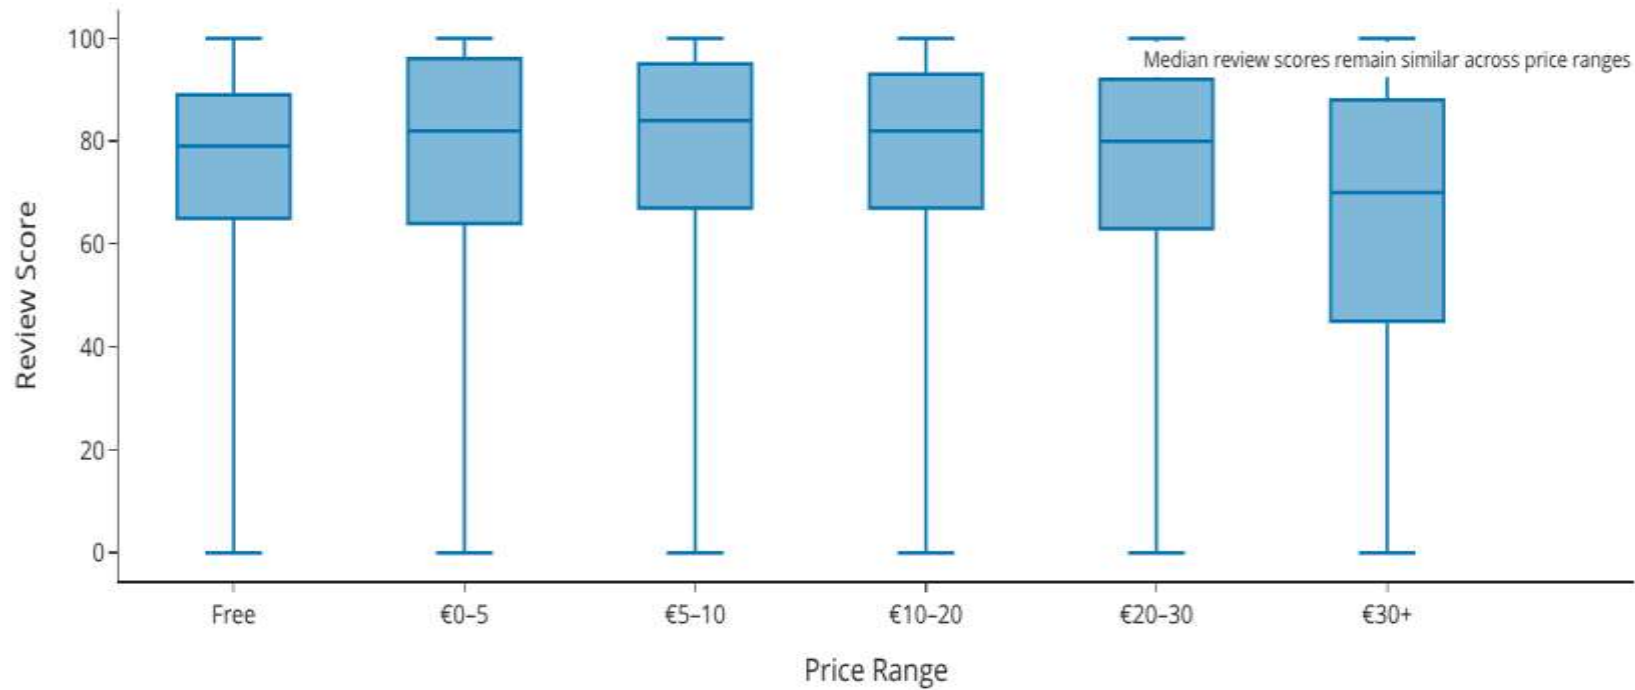

```
...text= "Median review scores remain similar across price ranges",
...showarrow=False,
...bgcolor="white",
...font=dict(size=12)
)
```

```
fig.show()
```

✓ 0.1s

Python

Higher prices do not consistently lead to better review scores

Key Conclusion
Price has little influence on review quality.

Q3. Genres with High Satisfaction & Engagement

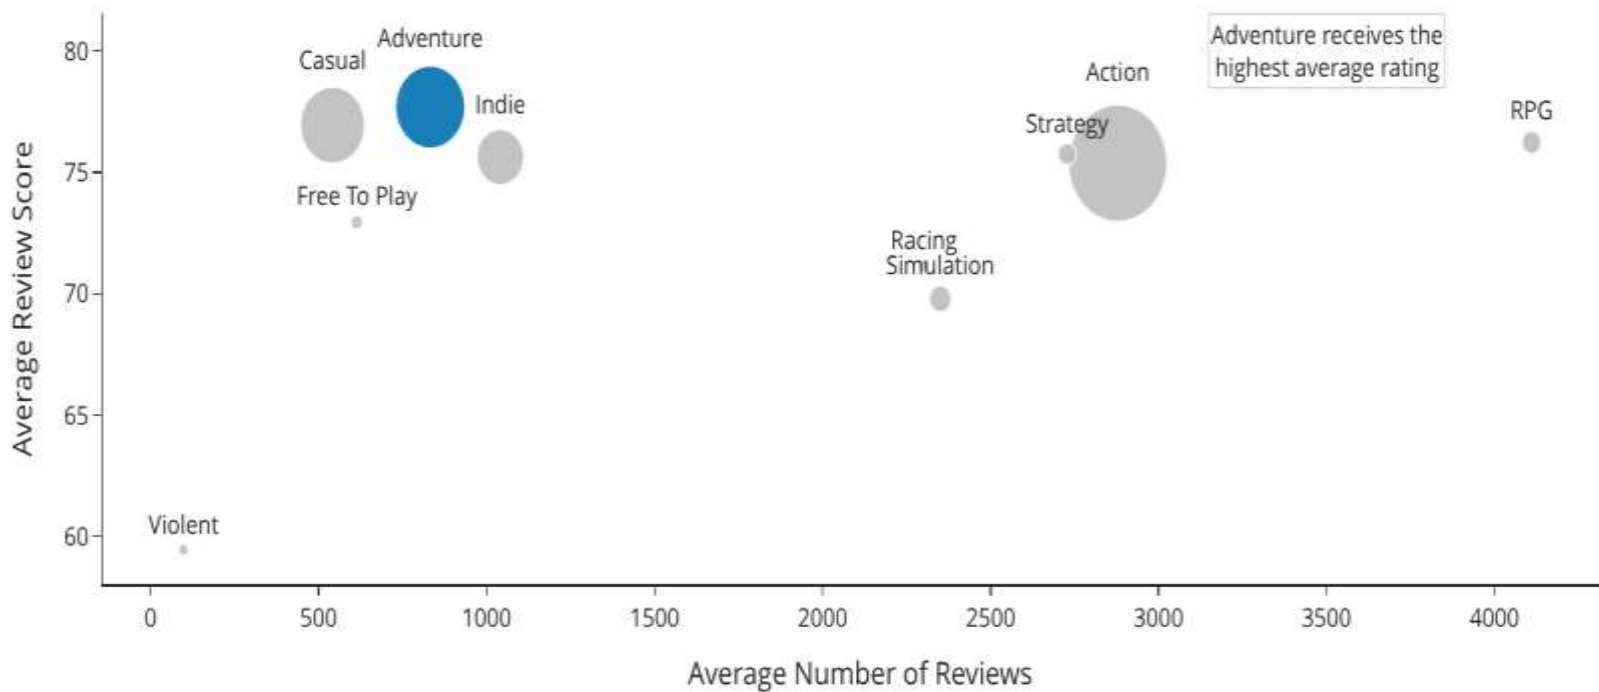

```
...text= Adventure receives thehighest average rating ,
...showarrow=False,
...bgcolor="white",
...bordercolor="lightgray",
...borderwidth=1
)
```

```
fig.show()
```

✓ 0.0s

Python

Adventure and Action combine high player ratings with strong engagement

Key Conclusion

Adventure and Action balance strong ratings with high engagement.

Q4. Annual Releases by Genre

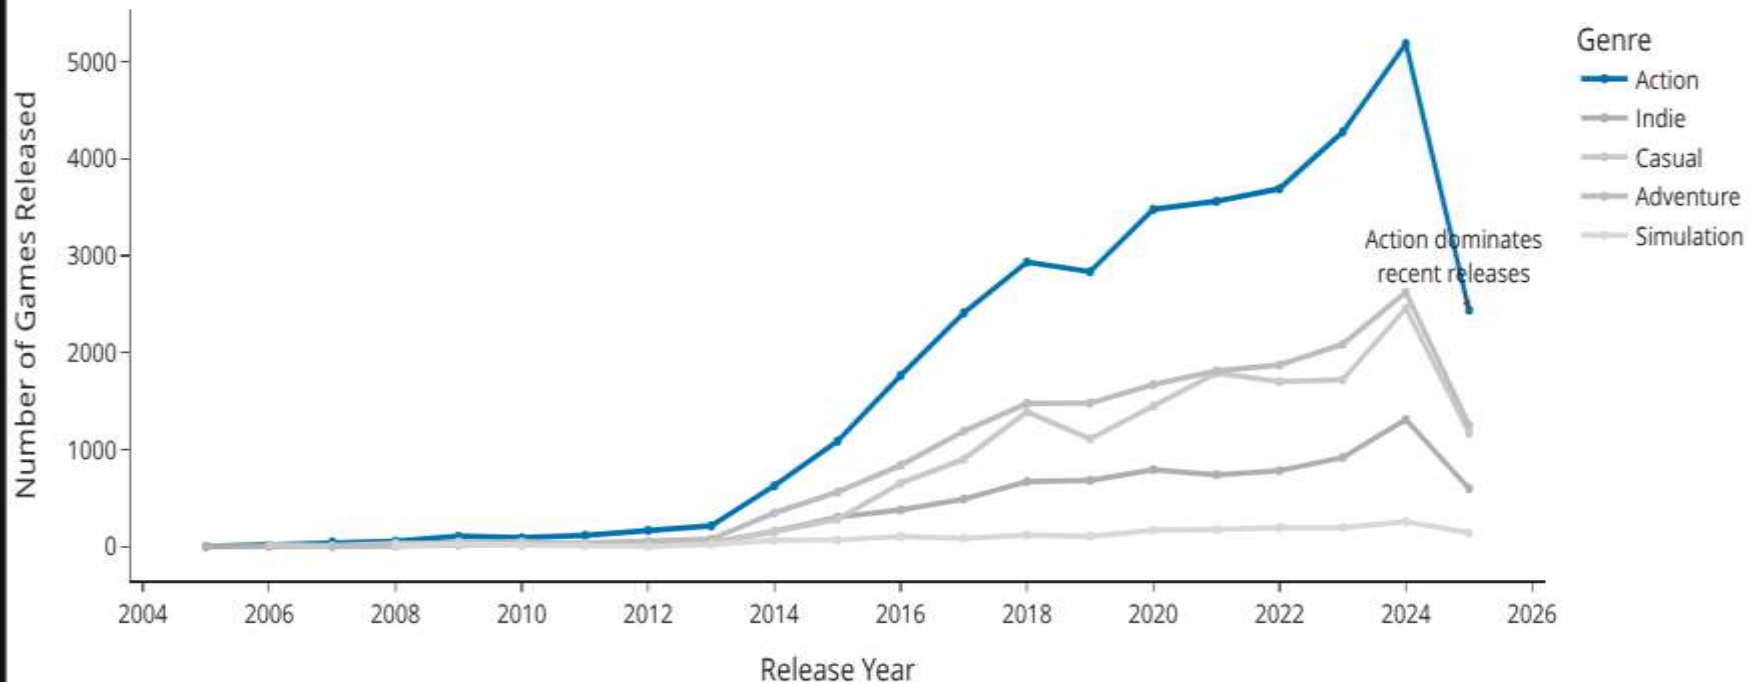

```
....x=action.iloc[-1]["release_year"],
....y=action.iloc[-1]["Games Released"],
....text="Action dominatesrecent releases",
....showarrow=True,
....arrowhead=2
....)
```

```
fig.show()
```

✓ 0.0s

Python

Steam's rapid growth has been driven primarily by Action games since 2015

Key Conclusion

Steam's growth has been driven primarily by Action games.

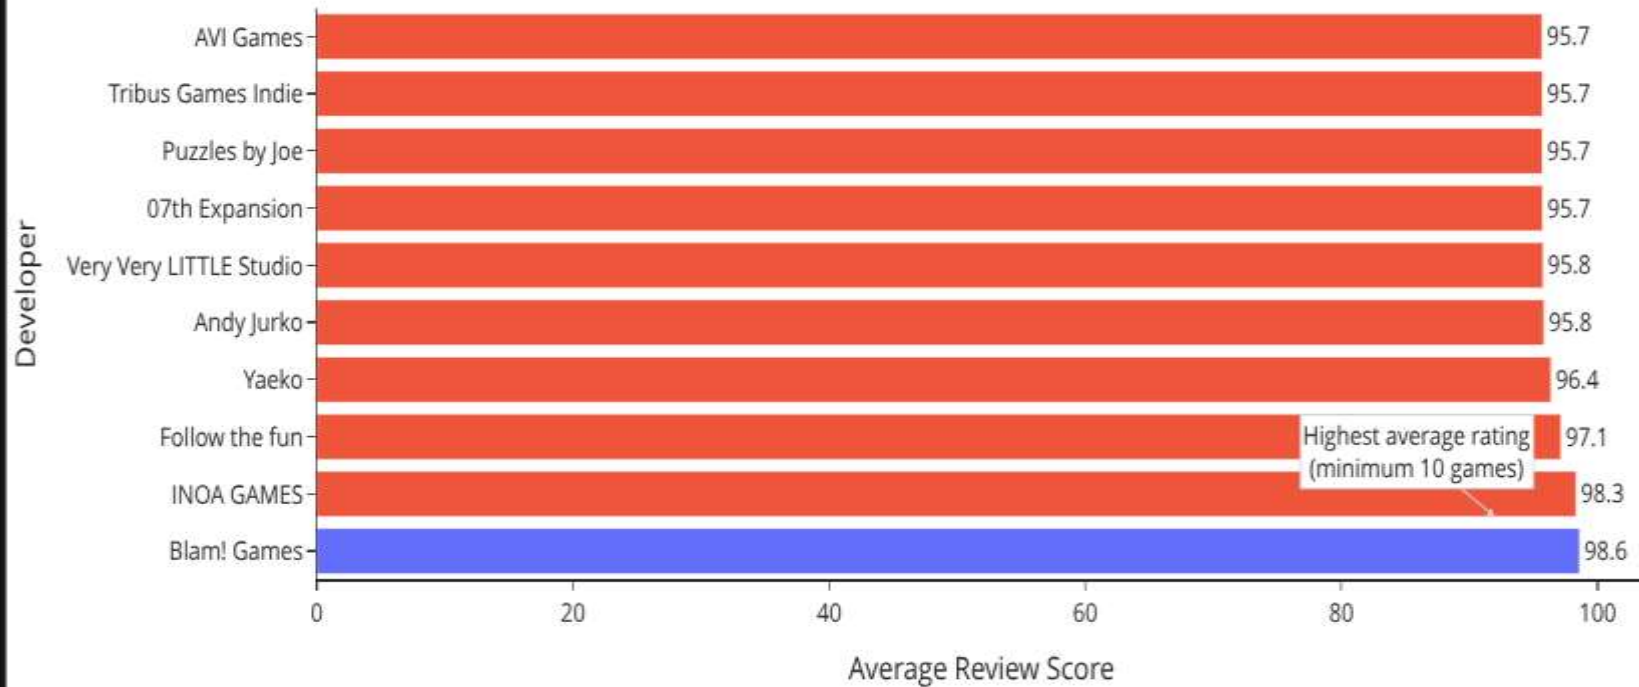

Q5. Highest Rated Developers

```
...arrowhead=2,
...ax=-50,
...ay=-35,
...bgcolor="white",
...bordercolor="lightgray",
...borderwidth=1
)
fig.show()
```

✓ 0.0s

Python

Several established developers consistently achieve outstanding player ratings

Key Conclusion

Several established developers consistently achieve outstanding ratings.

Q6. Free vs Paid Games

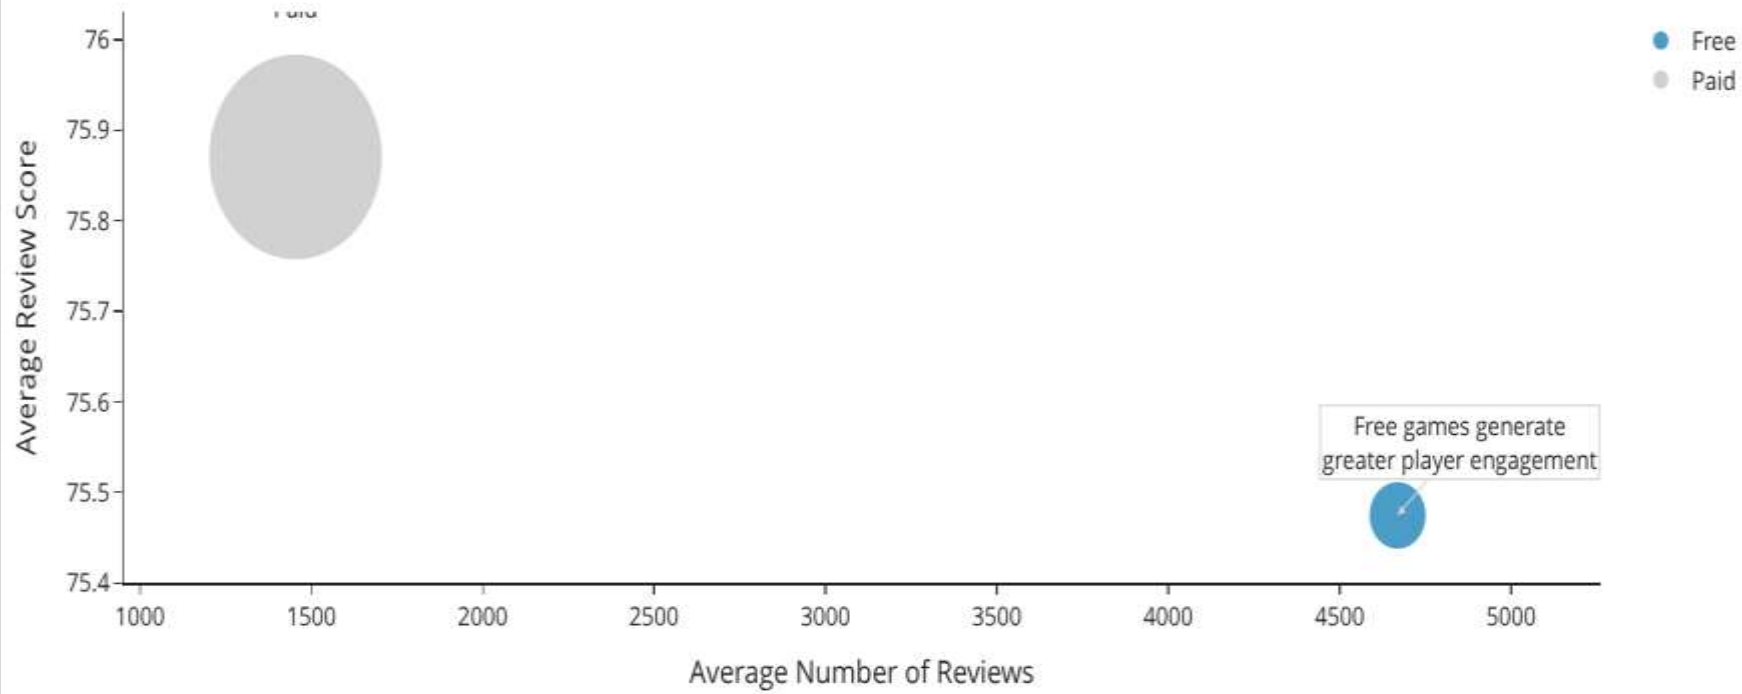

```
...ax=40,
...ay=-40,
...bgcolor="white",
...bordercolor="lightgray"
)
```

```
fig.show()
```

✓ 0.0s

Python

Free games attract substantially more reviews while maintaining comparable player ratings

Key Conclusion

Free games receive substantially more reviews while maintaining similar ratings.

Q7. Distribution of Review Scores

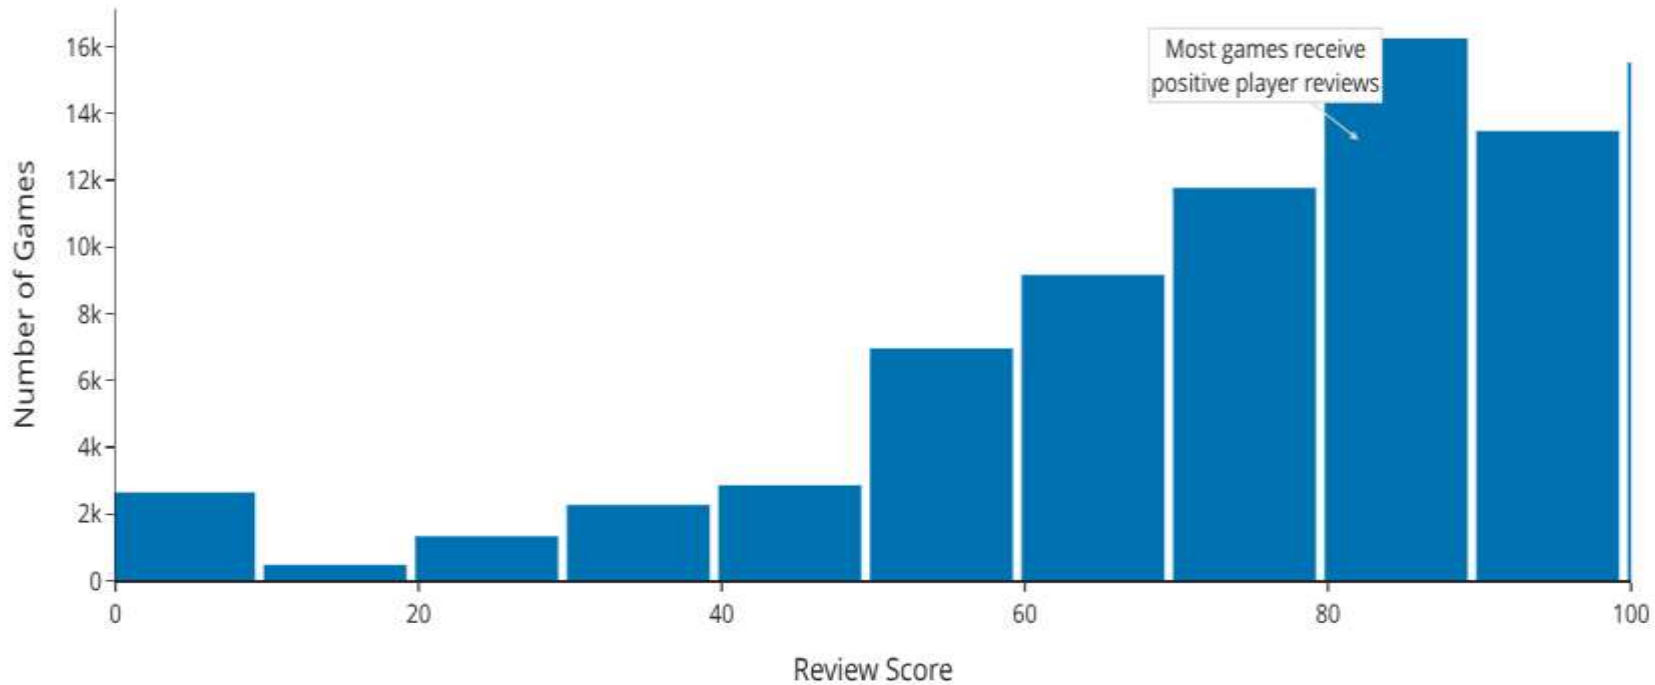

```
borderwidth=1
)
```

```
fig.show()
```

✓ 0.0s

Python

Most Steam games receive positive review scores, with ratings concentrated above 70

Key Conclusion

Most games score between 70 and 90.

Q8. Distribution of Game Prices

```
...bordercolor="lightgray",
...borderwidth=1
)
```

```
fig.show()
```

Key Conclusion
Most Steam games are priced below €10.

Q9. Most Reviewed Steam Games

```
...ay=-30,
...bgcolor="white",
...bordercolor="lightgray",
...borderwidth=1
)
```

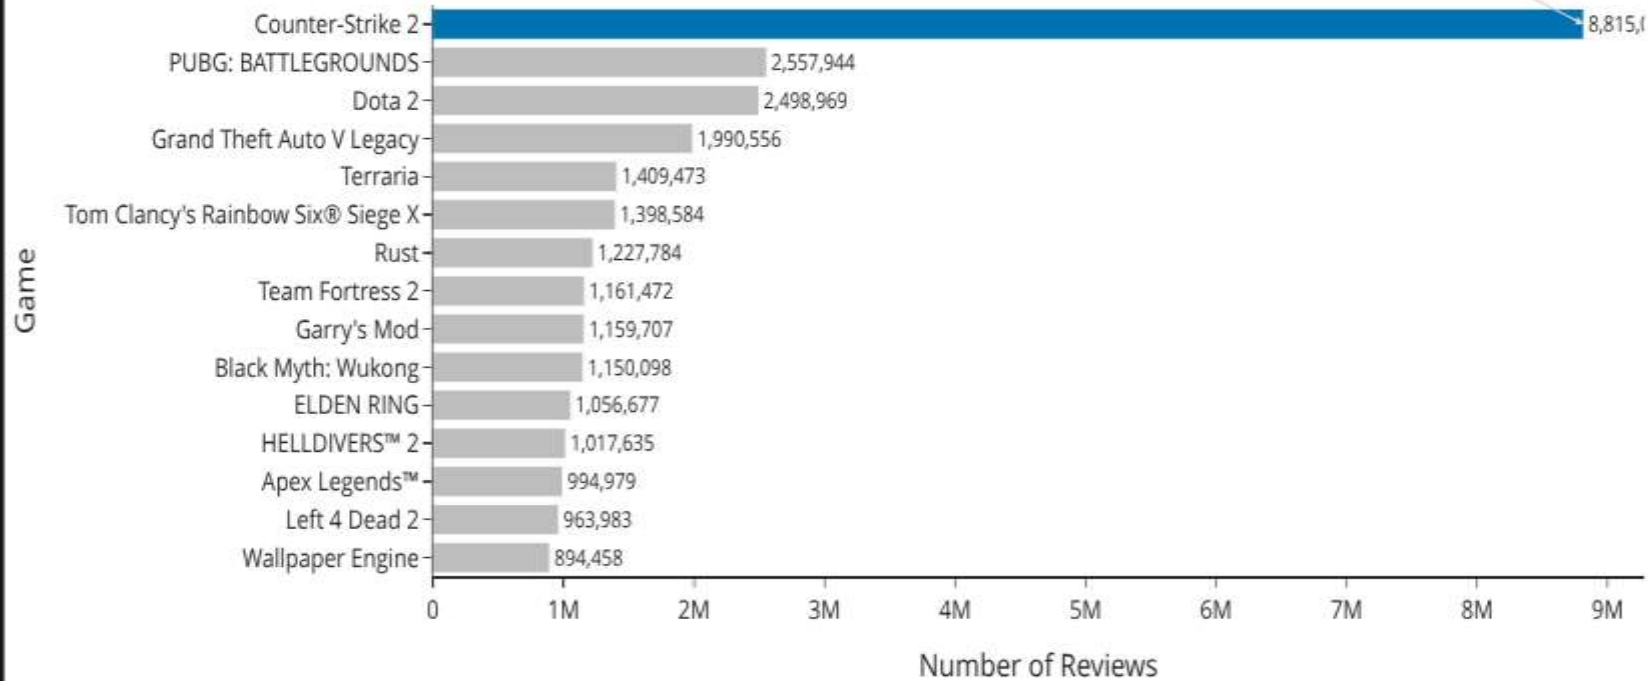

```
fig.show()
```

✓ 0.0s

Python

Counter-Strike 2 leads Steam with the largest player review community

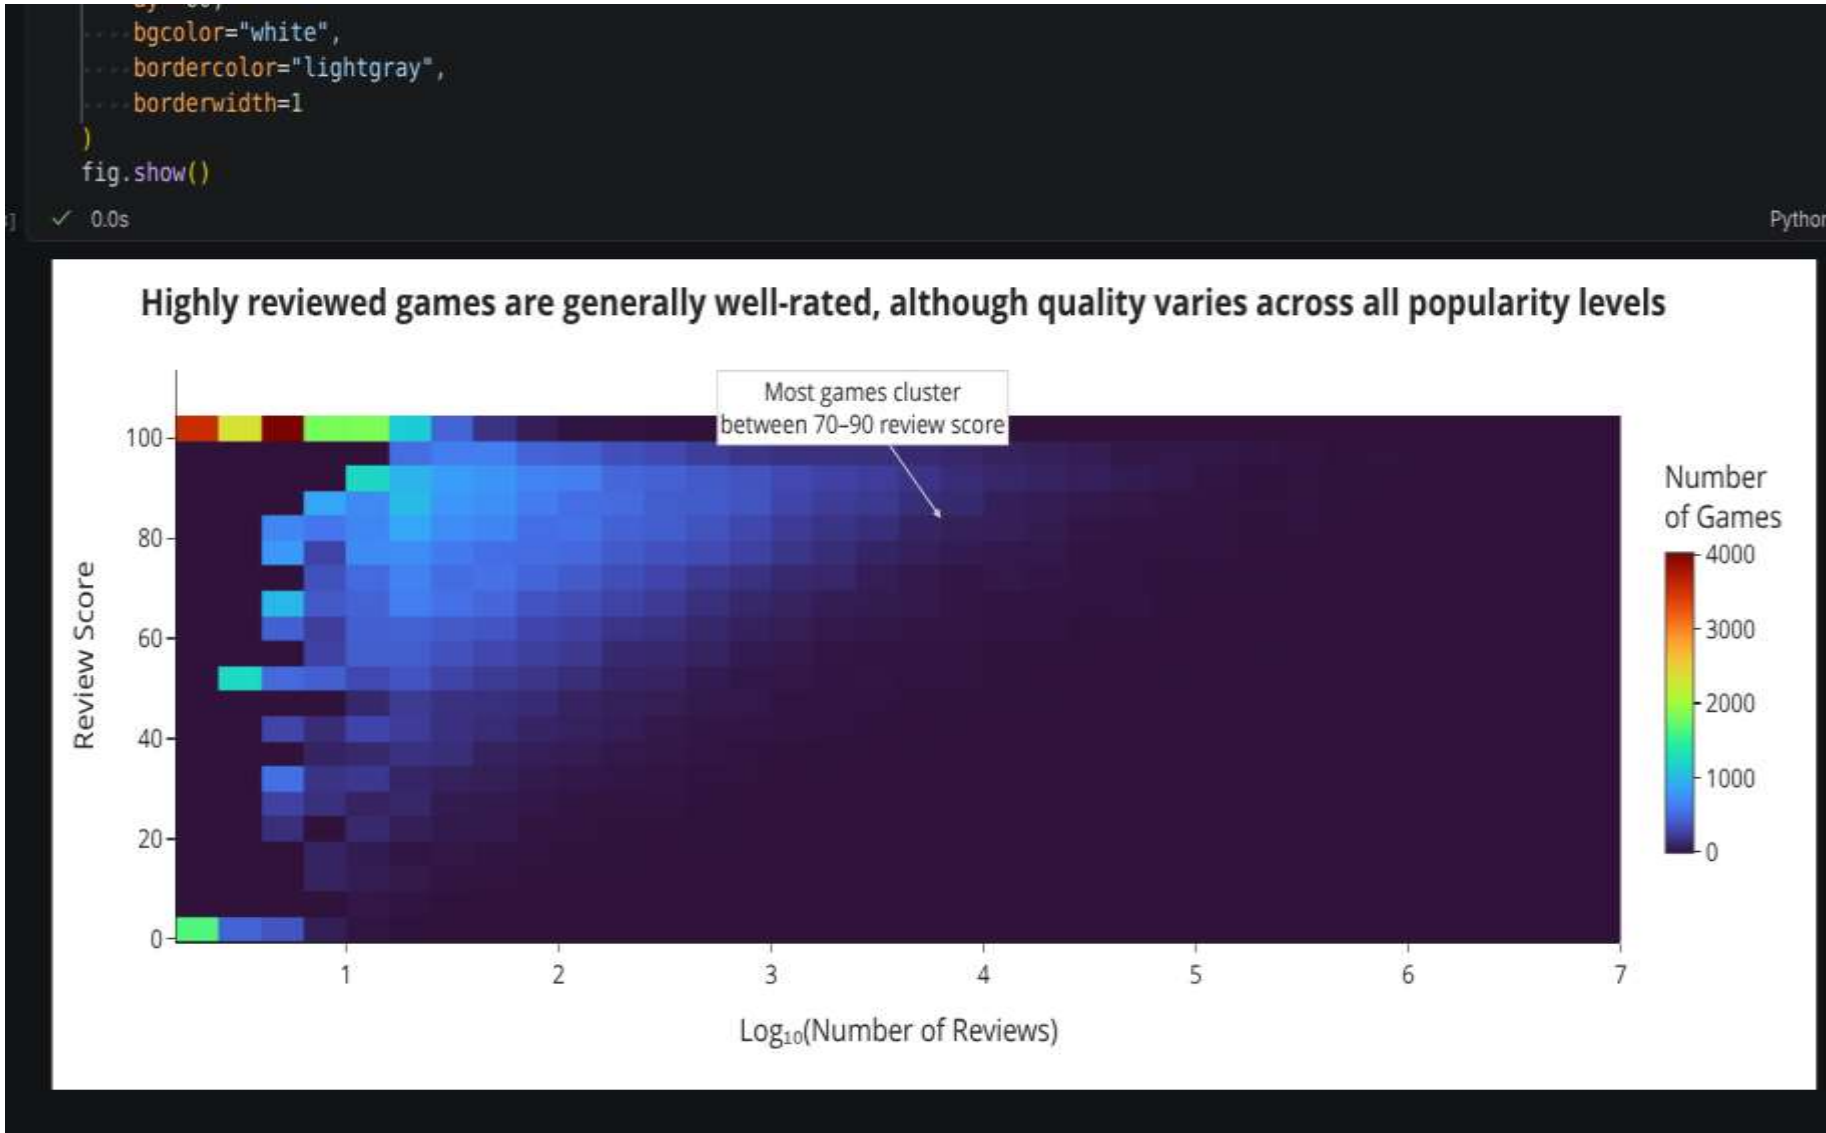

Largest review community

Key Conclusion

Counter-Strike 2 has the largest player review community.

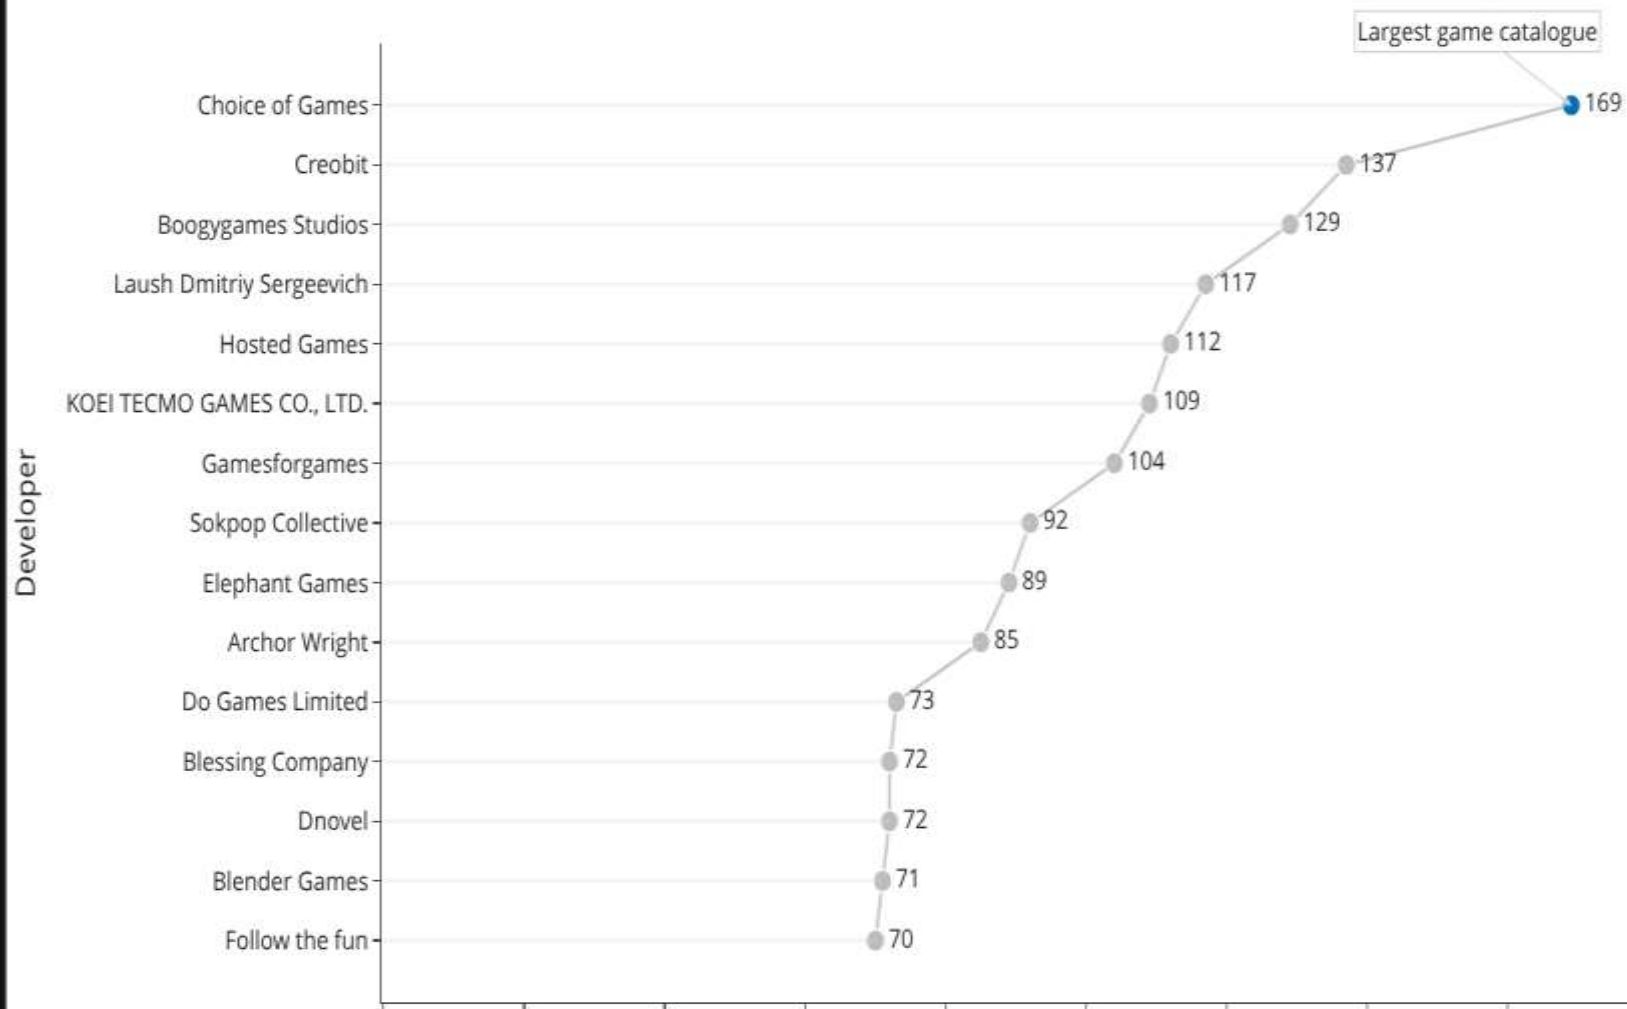

Q10. Engagement vs Satisfaction

Key Conclusion
Highly reviewed games are generally well-rated.

Q11. Largest Steam Developers

Several developers have built exceptionally large game portfolios on Steam

Key Conclusion

A few developers contribute disproportionately large game catalogues.

Q12. Genre Distribution (Treemap)

```
...template= Simple_Writer ,
...font=dict(size=14),
...coloraxis_showscale=False,
...margin=dict(t=70, l=20, r=20, b=20)
...)
```

```
fig.show()
```

✓ 0.0s

Python

Action and Adventure account for the largest share of Steam's game catalogue

Key Conclusion

Action and Adventure dominate Steam's catalogue.

<https://github.com/Sagar5687/dataviz-final-project-sagarsatishturuvekere>

<https://dataviz-final-project-sagarsatishturuvekere-fzo5dzhkxpsx6w9bdl.streamlit.app/>